TUSCANY / ITALY

The departure harbour in Tuscany offers a horizon of opportunities waiting to be explored. From the Marina in Cala De' Medici, in the town of Castiglioncello/Rosignano Solvay, you can sail to the northern part of Corse or through the Tuscan Archipelago. There you will find a lot of attractive places to visit: Capraia, the nearest island, Elba, the biggest and most famous one; all the islands offer something special to discover by sea and also by land, to the tune of the typical Tuscan flavours.

The Marina is provided with all kind of services: hotels, restaurants, grocery stores,pools and cafes. Portorosa is the nearest starting point to reach the Aeolian Islands, just 15 nautical miles far away; in 2-3 sailing hours you'll get to the nearest

AMALFI COAST / ITALY

The base of departure is Marina D'Arechi, easily accessible and well connected to the airports of Naples and Salerno. It's the perfect starting point to sail through the bays and small towns of the Amalfi Coast, where you can go ashore to have daily trips, taste the gastronomic specialities and buy some souvenirs. In Amalfi you can not miss a coffe or a lemon dessert in the little square of the village. In Cetara, you can have dinner in typical restaurants to try anchovies and the famous "colatura di alici". Another place not to be missed is the exclusive and sophisticated Positano, where you can go shopping in the notorious pottery workshops. Sailing towards the South, you can reach the Gulf of Sorrento and Naples with the magical islands of Capri, Ischia and Procida.

CILENTO COAST / ITALY

The Marina d'Arechi is the ideal starting point for exploring the Cilento Coast, well connected to the airports of Naples and Salerno. The first recommended stop is the Bay of Infreschi, with its crystal-clear waters and natural caves, perfect for a swim. The journey continues to Palinuro, renowned for its golden beaches and the Blue Grotto.

Sailing north, you arrive at Acciaroli, a picturesque village beloved by Ernest Hemingway, where a stop in the alleys and a coffee with a sea view are a must. Pioppi, the capital of the Mediterranean diet, is another unmissable stop, perfect for a dinner of fresh fish and local wines.

Continuing south, you encounter Agropoli, with its castle and scenic streets, from which it is easy to reach the temples of Paestum. Finally, a stop in Santa Maria di Castellabate offers artisan shopping and gourmet dinners by the sea.

Conclude your journey in Acciaroli or Ascea for a moment of peace amidst unspoiled nature and turquoise waters.
